

Belgians Flee From Troops of New Republic

BRAZZAVILLE, Former French Congo (AP)—Thousands of panicky whites, many women and children wearing pajamas, rushed out of the newly independent Republic of Congo today, fearful of assault and rape.

Militant Negro soldiers were reported for some hours to be in effective control of Leopoldville, capital of the former Belgian Congo. The city lies directly across the Congo River from Brazzaville, which is in autonomous territory soon to receive its independence from France.

The Belgian Embassy in Leopoldville reported partial calm was restored after President Joseph Kasavubu personally addressed the mutinous soldiers.

But it was apparent the situation in the capital remained dangerous with the white population alarmed at reports of assaults and rapes of white women.

AP correspondent Lynn Heinzel, in a dispatch from Leopoldville, said bayonet-wielding soldiers stopped Belgians trying to take the ferry to Brazzaville.

But he reported 3,000 to 4,000 Belgians, mostly women and children, managed to get across before the traffic was halted.

He said some Belgians had been arrested, but that there was no violence.

The flow of refugees started about 2 a.m.

The European settlers of Brazzaville turned out to care for the stream. Most of the women and children had fled their homes in haste. Many told of seeing violence.

With almost no formalities the refugees were taken in charge by soldiers, police and Europeans and directed toward schools, army barracks.

Wants U.S. to Revive Nuclear Tests

NEW YORK (AP)—Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller wants the United States to resume underground nuclear testing as a step toward arms control.

"The primary necessity for any successful negotiation of arms control is the correction of today's military imbalance in order to make the deterrent force of America truly secure against destruction," the Republican governor says.

"The vulnerability of this force along with our inferiority to Soviet forces in specific areas, places America near a posture of appealing, rather than negotiating."

Rockefeller's latest call for a change in administration policy on arms control was made in a 4,000-word statement released Thursday at his office here.

Rockefeller has been urging Vice President Richard M. Nixon to discuss issues, and Nixon says he has done plenty.

Although Nixon is the favorite to win the Republican nomination for president, Rockefeller remains available for a draft.

In his statement, Rockefeller urged that the United States create immediately at the highest level of government, "a fully staffed agency to inspire and to coordinate all activities bearing upon arms control and inspection."

Vandals Hit Melon Patches in County

Several instances of persons entering watermelon patches over the county and destroying the watermelons by cutting them open has been brought to the attention of the Hempstead County Sheriff's Department.

In one patch it seems the vandals rode horses through the patch and indiscriminately slashing open green watermelons, and thereby causing several hundreds of dollars worth of loss to the farmer.

Sheriff Jimmie Griffin today issued a warning to persons causing such damage. He said: "The Law provides a severe penalty for any one caught trespassing on another's land with the intent to do harm. The Law also provides for severe penalty for persons causing malicious mischief of this type. I ask that the citizens of Hempstead County report to me any evidence that they might have that will lead to the apprehension and prosecution of persons damaging the property of others, especially growing crops."

The Sheriff went on to say that he is making an extensive investigation of this matter and will do all within his power to apprehend the persons that are responsible for the destruction of these crops.

$228 Millions to U.S. in Taxes

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—Federal taxes paid by Arkansians in 1959 totaled a record $228,804,814, up $31,508,305 over the previous year.

The Internal Revenue Service, making that report yesterday, said it was the first time collections have exceeded 200 million dollars in a fiscal year.

It was the second largest increase for a year in Arkansas history, falling slightly below the $37,546,120 jump from 1942-43 to 1943-44.

Individual income taxes were up $20,372,772 to a total of $184,835,271.

Bodies From Blimp Brought to Surface

LAKEHURST, N. J. (AP)—Divers started bringing up today the bodies of crewmen killed when a blimp crashed and sank 15 miles off the New Jersey coast.

The blimp, a 403-foot giant among present day airships, buckled in flight, Wednesday and crashed off Barnegat Inlet. Four crewmen were picked up then, but one died later. Seventeen others were missing and presumed dead.

The first body recovered from 55 feet of water at 9:15 a.m. was that of Henry V. Gobold, an airman of Conway, S.C.

Two others were brought up from the gondola of the sunken blimp in the next hour and a half. They were Steve B. Thompson, machinist mate 3.C., of Rl. 7, Box 28, Spartansburg, S.C., and L.L. J.C. Richard V. Hall, of Beachwood, N.J.

The USS Salvager, a navy salvage lifting vessel, arrived at the scene from New York Thursday night and took over on the scene command of the salvage operations from the destroyer McGowan.

Throughout the night, divers descended into the 55-foot deep water as searchlights played on the scene.

The other three ZPG-3W type blimps in Navy service were grounded today by the commander, Naval Air Force Atlantic Fleet, located in Norfolk, Va., pending a determination of the cause of the crash.

His order was a formality. The commander of the group to which the ill-fated blimp belonged has kept her sister ships on the ground since the crash. All three are based at the Naval Air Station here.

Parts of the blimp were brought to the surface Thursday night. They included a piece of the port engine, the top engine cowl and the mount which supported the engine outside the gondola.

Bois d'Arc Reservoir Work to Start

Within the next few days the Game and Fish Department will begin foundation work for the 60 acre reservoir to be constructed in the Bois d'Arc public hunting and fishing area.

Earth moving equipment is being brought from other parts of the state.

Director Nelson Cox said "the construction stakes are now being set and, pending favorable weather, the moving of dirt should begin next week."

He said the water control structures would also be installed during this phase of the project. "We have these materials on hand and will move them to the installation sites during this month."

Cox said the work will continue into the fall as weather permits. He advised that John Buxton, Chief of the Department's engineering division, will be in charge. Clearing and grading of the levee right-of-way, 200 feet wide and 2 1/2 miles long, was completed last year.

When completed, the reservoir will serve a dual purpose: it will provide fishing and also store water for flooding the public duck hunting woods below.

The average depth will be 12 feet. The entire area totals 6,300 acres. It is located 10 miles southwest of Hope.

In addition to military training, a full schedule of sports and social events has been set. All activities of the post are available to the Reservists.

Faubus Offers Promise of Pay Increase to Teachers From Surplus Sales Tax Money

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—Gov. Orval E. Faubus today held before Arkansas classroom teachers the prospect of a $100 raise if he wins a fourth term.

Faubus sent letters to all of the state's teachers, saying he would recommend legislation for the salary increase.

How would the raise be financed? Faubus said state revenues have mounted to a point where there is a surplus above total allocations authorized in the current Revenue Stabilization Act. He said the pay boost would be paid out of such excess increments.

Teacher salaries could be increased by an average of $100 during the next three years, the letter said.

The governor said Arkansas Education Assn. leaders had estimated the revenue surplus might range between 7 and 10 million dollars in the current fiscal year, and that this amount should increase annually thereafter by 5 to 7 millions.

Faubus promised that if re-elected, he would ask the Legislature to allocate 60 or 70 per cent of the surplus to the Public School Fund for use before the 1960-61 fiscal year ends next June 30. At least 90 per cent of this allocation would be earmarked for teacher salary increases, he said.

Faubus cited a $103 salary increase for teachers which was financed by a one cent hike in the state sales tax in 1957. He said that before he became governor, the average teachers salary was $2,332 and now it is $3,245.

Gov. Orval E. Faubus says the often story Little Rock school integration crisis cannot be blamed on his administration.

In a statewide television address last night, Faubus attributed the sometimes violent desegregation

Mexico Backs Cubans Against United States

By JACK RUTLEDGE

MEXICO CITY (AP)—A congressional spokesman for Mexico's ruling political party says the nation is solidly backing the Cuban people against the United States. Senators and deputies gave him rousing cheers.

President Adolfo Lopez Mateos was silent on the statement made by Emilio Sanchez Piedras, chairman of the permanent commission of Congress.

Senators close to the President said they felt the statement reflected the view of a spokesman for the legislative branch and not the executive, which is responsible for Mexico's foreign policy under the constitution. But his speech was billed as an explanation of the basic policies of Lopez Mateos' government, and it seemed most unlikely he would have spoken without consulting top government officials.

Sanchez Piedras told a congressional caucus, "It appears that our northern neighbor (the United States) is closing the doors to its friendship and understanding in the face of the yearnings of the Cuban people to live in liberty and economic independence."

"We, the representatives of the people of Mexico repeat to the Cuban people our same attitude of solidarity," he continued, "and we wish to tell them that we are certain that their right to live in social justice and economic liberty will have to prevail in this continent in the hope of peace and reciprocal friendship."

He made no direct reference to Cuban Prime Minister Fidel Castro.

The congressional leader said he was speaking for the Party of Revolutionary Institutions (PRI), which has an overwhelming majority in Congress and runs almost all phases of Mexican political life. Lopez Mateos is official by the leader of the PRI.

The statement appeared certain to cause concern on the part of the United States.

Cubans Hail Support of Mexicans

HAVANA (AP)—Government-controlled newspapers today headlined reports of Mexican government support for Cuba in its dispute with the United States.

Both Revolution and El Mundo cited statements by Emilio Sanchez Piedras, chairman of the Permanent Commission of the Mexican Congress, declaring Mexico is backing the Cuban people against the United States.

Cuban youths and labor groups called for demonstrations before the Mexican Embassy today to thank Ambassador Gilberto Bosques for his government's support.

El Mundo declared in an editorial that Cuba by standing up to the United States was "living its most glorious hours."

The newspapers also were studded with appeals for a turnout Sunday for a Castro rally at the presidential palace. All sports events have been canceled in Havana to insure a maximum gathering. The rally was called to show support for the Castro regime and opposition to the United States.

16 Million Acres of Cotton Planted

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Agriculture Department reported today farmers planted 16,306,000 acres of cotton this year, an increase of 3 per cent from last year.

The department made no forecast on production. Should the acre yield equal last year's, the crop would be about 14,349,000 bales if yields were in line with last year's.

By comparison, production was 14,551,000 bales last year and 14,016,000 for the ten-year (1948-57) average.

This year's crop, like others in recent years, is being produced under a federal crop control program designed to prevent overproduction. Excess production is subject to stiff penalty taxes.

The U. S. inquiry through diplomatic channels was especially pertinent because Sanchez Piedras is a spokesman for Mexico's ruling political party, which is non-Communist and considered friendly to the United States.

U. S. authorities reserved judgment on the effect of the Mexican development.

Support from Latin America is deemed of key importance in future efforts to deal with Cuba's ruling Fidel Castro regime.

Washington's effort to gain support in a dispute within the Americas is difficult at best. Pulling the feathers of the U. S. eagle traditionally is a popular activity in Latin America and Castro still has much popularity among Latin peoples.

controversy to "pressure groups and the national administration." He also launched a strong attack on H. B. Williams of Walnut Ridge, one of four candidates opposing his bid for nomination to an unprecedented fourth term.

Joe C. Hardin of Grady received only slight mention as Faubus' running mate. He departed from his prepared text by deleting some references to Hardin. He also cut out brief textual mentions of his other two primary foes, Atty. Gen. Bryce Bennett and Hal Millsap Jr. of Siloam Springs.

Faubus' speech also included a denunciation of the Arkansas Gazette, "an old enemy" and Gazette Publisher Hugh Patterson. "The governor began his speech with a review of what he called accomplishments of his administration, including industrialization, improved welfare programs and improvements at state institutions. He dwelt at length on refutations of various charges by Williams and quoted from speeches to support his contention that Williams has said public power and welfare programs are socialist.

He also quoted from a letter he said was written by friends of Williams which said in part that "he is not a segregationist."

What Faubus termed "a program of progress" under his administration was achieved, he said despite being "burdened and harassed by one of the great controversies of our time."

He made no direct mention of Little Rock's integration controversy, which flared into violence in 1957 after he called out National Guardsmen to prevent court-ordered integration. But he said: "The fact that pressure groups and the national administration, through unwise and illegal actions, caused turmoil in the state, resulting in world-wide publicity, can in no wise be blamed upon this administration, the state of Arkansas or its people."

He contended that Arkansas "was deliberately chosen as the guinea pig for an unwise and ill-considered social experiment."

Faubus dismissed as "utterly without foundation" a Williams charge that the governor once ordered two state colleges integrated. He cited statistics showing a decline in welfare rolls to refute Williams' charge that the rolls were being padded for political purposes. He also denied Williams' claim that pressure had been put on the state employee union of a newsman.

Faubus quoted from Williams' speeches which said: "Take a look at the welfare program of our country, which is pure Socialism" and "Look at the health program provided for veterans which is a form of socialized medicine" and a headline reading "Baptist educator fires blast at Socialist public power."

Faubus asked what Williams would do in these fields if he became governor. He also contended that Williams' error in saying that America would lose Negro countries to Communism because of racial strife.

Faubus' only mention of Hardin was in reference to Hardin's claim that the state was losing doctors. The governor cited figures showing a net gain of 246 doctors in the state during the past five years.

He again challenged his foes to "be specific about what constitutes misrule in Arkansas during my time as governor."

He added, "I think it is quite clear and evident that I cannot answer all the wild charges of my opponents and I do not think you expect me to want me to do so."

Millsap, in a television appearance in El Dorado, added South-west Bell Telephone Co. to the utilities group he feels has excessive power over the state government. His television opener, "Tuesday night had cited Arkansas Louisiana Gas Co. and Arkansas Power & Light Co. in this connection."

His speech was largely a repetition of one given Tuesday night over a Little Rock station.

Hardin yesterday charged that Faubus' last two terms as governor had created a bad political climate. He said specifically a proposed school-closing measure (Amendment 52), alleged interference with colleges which he said had driven off two college presidents, resignation of a non-political highway director which allowed election of unpledged presidential electors, and alleged impairment of the state's industrialization program.

Hardin's charges were made in a radio address at Wynne.

the U.S. government. The U.S. Embassy was expected to ask the foreign ministry to what extent it reflected the Mexican government's official policy.

Sanchez Piedras' statement also was certain to find no favor with Mexico's sugar industry, which hopes to supply the United States between 175,000 and 200,000 tons of the 700,000 tons of sugar President Eisenhower lopped off Cuba's quota for 1960. Mexico's sales to the United States now amount to about 62,000 tons a year.

Charges Butler Favors Kennedy

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Edwin Pauley, California Democratic leader, said today Chairman Paul Butler "has used every power at his command in favor of Sen. John F. Kennedy."

Returning from Mexico City to take part in pre-convention maneuvering, Pauley said: "I don't necessarily like the word 'rigged,' but it is obvious that Butler controls the tickets to the convention."

Pauley, multimillionaire oil man and friend of former President Harry S. Truman, bowed out of the original Los Angeles convention-host committee in a dispute over his request for 5,000 tickets.

"The difference between the 5,000 and the 1,500 tickets finally granted to the host committee," said Pauley, "gave Butler control of the situation. Whatever he has done with those tickets has not been detrimental to his candidate."

The Republic of Congo got its independence from Belgium June 30. Since that time part of the country has been in turmoil as troops demanded more pay and dismissal of all white officers.

In Brussels, Prime Minister Gaston Eyskens announced that two companies of Belgian soldiers of about 300 men each will leave today for Congo bases at Kamina in northern Katanga, and at Kifona and Banane at the mouth of the Congo River. About 2,000 to 3,000 white Belgian soldiers are already there.

The Belgian radio reported that Congo soldiers controlled Leopoldville, capital of the new African nation which Belgium freed last week, but that the soldiers were allowing Belgians to leave unmolested after checking their identity papers.

In an earlier broadcast, the Belgian radio said that the native population was driving all white settlers out of the region around Leopoldville, but the Belgian government's report indicated this was overdrawn.

A government spokesman in contact with the Belgian representative in Leopoldville, said just before noon that there was still panic in the Congo capital.

There was no immediate report on the role being played by the new Congo government led by Prime Minister Patrice Lumumba and President Joseph Kasavubu. Both had made repeated appeals to the Belgian settlers, asking them to stay and help the fledgling republic, which is militarily short of trained administrators and educated personnel.

A sweep of Congolese army patrols into the European area of Leopoldville during the night is believed to have contributed to the panic. The troop movements were reported touched off by a rumor that Soviet planes had landed near Leopoldville. The native soldiers reportedly feared they had come to take away their new independence.

All commercial communications between Leopoldville and Brussels and other European cities were out for a time but shortly before noon were re-established.

A Belgian government spokesman suggested that the break was caused when European operators in the Congo fled.

Tenseness in Leopoldville had grown with arrival Thursday of Belgians from outlying districts (telling stories of mutinous Congolese soldiers breaking into European homes, beating up white men, raping women and stealing property).

The army revolt began in Thysville, 75 miles southwest of Leopoldville. The mutinous Congolese soldiers demanded more money and the ouster of their Belgian officers. Lumumba ended the rebellion by promising to consider their grievances, but the Belgian settlers remained fearful.

ACTIONS SPEAK LOUDER...

GREATEST ADVANCE IN SCHOOLS' HISTORY MADE UNDER GOVERNOR FAUBUS' LEADERSHIP

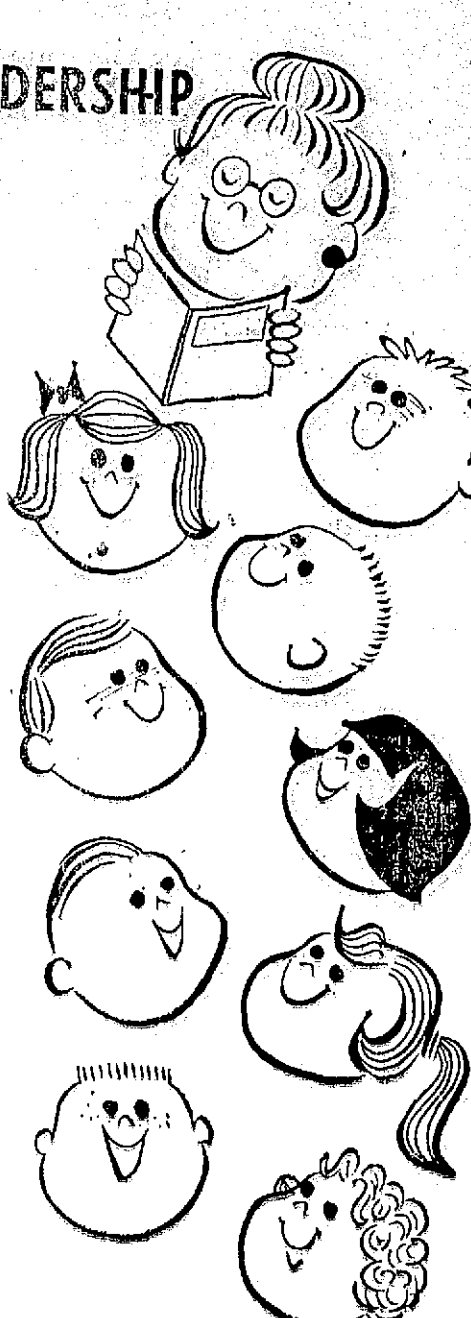

The Arkansas public school and educational system has seen the greatest improvement in its history under the administration of Governor Orval E. Faubus. Increased teachers' salaries, better classroom facilities and further educational aids have begun to provide for Arkansas' children the level of educational training they need and deserve.

In 1957, the public school system marked the beginning of its greatest advances through the increase in annual public school appropriations from $29,700,000 to $44,000,000 and again in 1959 with the vast improvement of the teacher retirement system by the General Assembly.

The year before Mr. Faubus became Governor, the annual average salary for teachers in Arkansas was $2,332. This year (1959-60), the average annual salary was $3,245—an average increase of $913 per teacher.

Arkansas' school transportation safety record is one of the most outstanding in the nation. Last year 184,000 children were transported daily without a death or injury.

These facts are conclusive evidence that Governor Faubus has given more than lip service to the cause of education and the welfare of teachers and students. The Faubus administration, realizing the enormous growth which is evident for the near future, pledges its efforts to continue public school improvement in Arkansas.

Rome Looks Like an Armed Camp

By EUGENE LEVIN
ROME (AP) — Italy's ancient capital looks like an armed camp today as police took up strategic positions against the threat of more Communist-Fascist trouble after a wild night of rioting.
Rome's Chamber of Labor, protesting police action against the Communist-led rioters, called an 11-hour general strike in the capital and surrounding province beginning at 1 p.m.
Police headquarters banned all public meetings in Rome Province in an attempt to forestall rallies planned today by the Fascists in Rome and the Communists in the port city of Civitavecchia north of the capital.
About 200 persons were injured in violent street fighting Wednesday night that turned a section of the city into a battlefield and set off fist fights in Parliament.
More than 50, half of them police, were hospitalized.
More firework appeared likely in Parliament today as leftist legislators pressed for a government statement on the clashes.
The street fighting flared in Rome when police tried to break up an estimated 10,000 World War II partisans and their supporters who massed in defiance of a police man. Communist-led parti-

Elected to the Senate in 1948, Johnson soon became leader of the Democrats and, in 1955, Senate majority leader. He arrives with his mentor and fellow Texan, House Speaker Sam Rayburn, for a 1956 White House conference. A boomlet for his presidential candidacy in the 1956 election ended with his heart attack July 2, 1955. His power is second to the President's.

Truman Is Now Looking Deserted

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst
WASHINGTON (AP) —The only big Democrat to use a cleverer so far in his party's presidential race is former President Truman who was never renowned for Already he's beginning to look deserted and lonely. The only other weapons used up till now have been velvet sandbags.

Truman last week tried to chop Sen. John F. Kennedy's presidential chances to bits by implying the Massachusetts senator's supporters were rigging the Democratic National Convention which opens next week.
It was a sensation for a moment but began to resemble a frustrated whisper as one after another of the top Democrats sought to disentangle themselves from any connection with Truman's charges.
Florida's Gov. LeRoy Collins, convention chairman, denied any rigging. Paul M. Butler, in charge of convention arrangements he treated fairly on convention arrangements.

Kennedy Ready to Go to Convention

HYANNISPORT, Mass. (AP) — Sen. John F. Kennedy of Massachusetts plans to leave Chicago for Los Angeles and the Democratic National Convention either Friday or Saturday.

The senator, front-runner for the Democratic presidential nomination, has been vacationing there since last Saturday, except for a quick trip to New York Monday for his televised reply to former President Harry S. Truman and another flight to New York Wednesday.

He left it up to Johnson to draw along with Truman on charges. Johnson never made a simple man, seemed to be on Truman's side and suddenly he didn't seem to be.
The day after Truman had his say on Kennedy, Johnson leaped in on Truman's side, saying he agreed with the former president and accusing Butler of failing to consult him on convention arrangements. At that time, Johnson had not yet publicly admitted he was even a candidate for the Democratic nomination.

But for lack of support, Truman's attack on Kennedy began to look like a pale rider on a pale horse. By the time Johnson got around to announcing two days later he was a candidate, he had no complaint to make.
He was asked that day if he was going to cite a single instance of rigging—this was the tricky Texas' big chance, both to back up Truman and to help demolish Kennedy by citing some evidence of a fix, if he had it.
But Johnson's answer was no.
All three contenders—Kennedy, Johnson, Symington — have been more or less as gentle as coons on each other, except in a back-handed way.

Symington, in fact, has stayed so far back in the picture he's been almost out of it. His only hope for the nomination is that Kennedy and Johnson will knock each other out and there'll be nobody left but him.

When Kennedy on July 4 answered Truman, by denying any knowledge of a fix, he stressed the need for a healthy young president. This could have been taken as a dig at Johnson who had a heart attack in 1955.

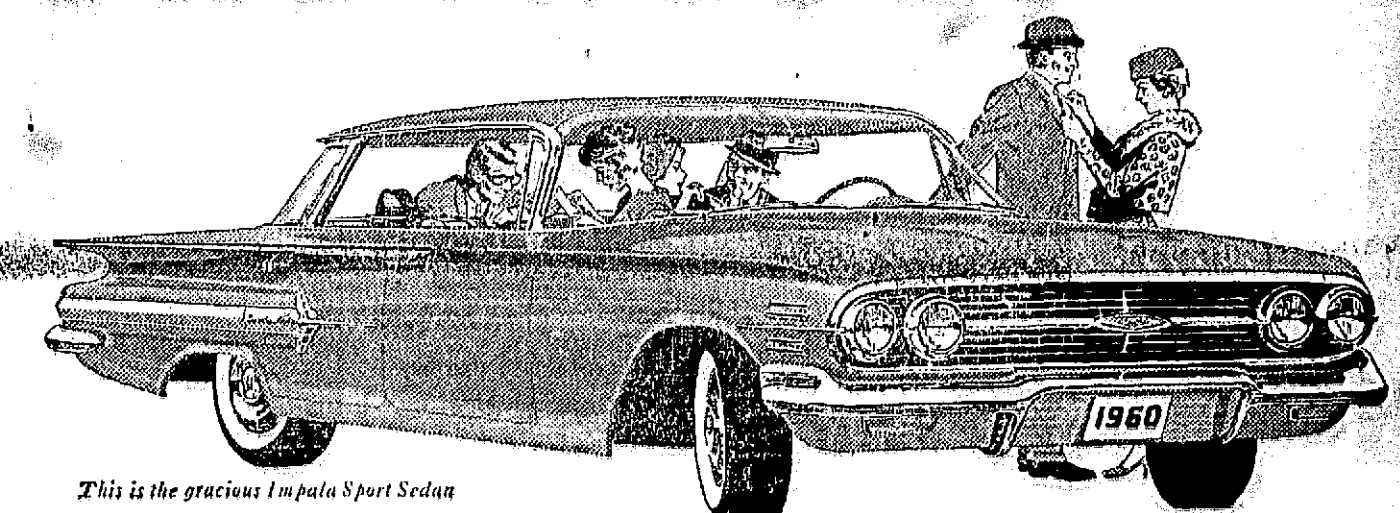

That's just how some of Johnson's top aides look it and responded at once with a look who's talking kind of complaint. They said Kennedy hadn't always been so healthily bouey.
Whether or not they did this with Johnson's approval is not known. The Johnson forces might be able to damage Kennedy if his aides attacked him while Johnson remained a symbol of sweetness and light.

At any rate, when Johnson finally announced his candidacy he not only didn't raise any questions about Kennedy's health but went so far as to say Kennedy had demonstrated he didn't have any health problems.

Bank Profits Over Nation Hit Record

By SAM DAWSON
AP Business News Analyst

NEW YORK (AP)—A majority of the nation's biggest banks today are reporting record operating earnings for the first half of 1960.

Yet, neither the banks nor the customers who borrow from them are entirely happy.

With all the talk about easier money and credit conditions and lower interest rates on many types of short-term loans, customers keep asking why many banks still say they can't find any more funds to lend and turn some would-be borrowers away, and why interest on bank loans stays as high as ever.

And while the banks enjoy the record profits because the interest rates are higher than a year ago and demand for loans unabated, they fret because they haven't more funds to lend.

Their chief complaint is the increased competition among investment outlets for individual and corporate savings which has cut into bank deposits. And many banks also think the Federal Reserve Board should ease up on the amount of reserves member banks, especially those in New York and Chicago, must maintain.

The earnings reports, however, should please bank stockholders. One by one, the big banks chalk up gains. In this they contrast with a number of industries that show earnings running behind those of the 1959 first half.

The Bank of America, the nation's biggest, reports first-half earnings 11 per cent over the same period last year, although deposits of the West Coast gain are down a fraction.

The First National City Bank of New York reports its net operating income 19.3 per cent over last year. And so it goes across the nation.

Higher interest rates and a generally lent-up condition explain the gain in earnings.

Why interest rates stay high is explained by the New York bank this way:

"A continuing erosion of the calculated money supply (checking account deposits of the public at large—plus currency outside banks) right down through May, gave mute testimony to the pressure."

DOROTHY DIX
Remorseful Husband
Seeks Forgiveness

By HELEN WORDEN ERSKINE

Dear Helen Worden Erskine:

I am a man 32 years old, have been married 13 months and have one child four months old. My wife left me two weeks ago because I've been drinking a lot. Every time I get drunk I take it out on her for no reason. I know she loves me and I love her more than anything in this world.

Now I am sorry and would like your help. I am willing to readjust my life, quit drinking and quit taking it out on her. I need her very much and so, does the baby. I'll do anything she wants of me. I can't find her. She is too scared of me. That's why she won't come home. But if she sees this, she may, and we could have a talk. So I hope you will help me. —Larry

Dear Larry: Promises are all very well but actions speak louder than words. What guarantee has your wife that you won't continue this repeat of repent-merry-go-round? Better get a third party to act as intermediary, perhaps someone from the Domestic Relations Court or your local Alcoholics Anonymous group. Meanwhile, I am sending you my leaflet on "Alcoholism."

Dear Helen Worden Erskine: Since summer holidays are here we desperately need advice. My mother is the youngest of six children. My grandmother lives with us. Our relatives take it for granted that our house is Gram's and therefore, theirs. My favorite uncle and aunt are planning to visit us. We've not seen them in five years. Now out of the clear blue, six other relatives are coming. Mother wrote them explaining that with so many people, no one could visit properly. They didn't take the hint. On top of this, a great aunt and uncle have decided to come too.

Our house is not large, neither is our bank account. These people eat like horses. What extra money we've saved was supposed to pay for a fence. My father is furious. We would have done something drastic long ago but for my grandmother. She gets very upset when there is friction and sulks for days, or is sick.

Dear J.: Relatives, like recalcitrant children, will fall into line if handled gently but firmly. Write the self-invited in-laws that it is virtually impossible to entertain them and the aunt and sure on the banks. "Continued deterioration in bank deposits, in combination with sustained bank loan demand, has explained the continuing tight position of the banks and tightening firmness of bank loan rates."

Government of Italy Is Tottering

By EUGENE LEVIN

ROME (AP)—Senate President Cesare Merzagora appealed today for a 15-day truce in political rioting and strikes. He said the future of Italy was endangered and his proposal won some early support.

Earlier, the government had threatened tougher police action unless the Communists halt the wave of violence which has cost seven lives and injuries to 750.

Giovanni Leone, president of the Chamber of Deputies, announced his support of the truce, and similar indications of approval came from parties of the center and right, and non-Communist unions.

The pro-Communist Socialist party of Pietro Nenni approved the truce, "provided the government afterward does not revert to the same police tactics."

There was no word from the Communists, or the Red-dominated Confederation of Labor.

Merzagora said he was motivated by "the gravity of the situation and the realization that the most sacred values of the constitution had been compromised, and the future of the country endangered."

Violence erupted at Palermo, where demonstrators hurled paving stones at police and ripped boards from a construction project to barricade a street.

Premier Fernando Tambroni accused the Reds of using "infamy" as a front for an attempt to seize power and warned the government would do its "full duty" to restore order.

The Communist-led Confederation of Labor (CGIL) called a nationwide 10-hour general strike this afternoon in protest against "police brutality." Non-Communist unions charged the CGIL with striking for "political motives" and said they would ignore the call.

A Red-called walkout flapped in Rome Thursday. But in the Communist belt around Reggio Emilia, Bologna and Modena it brought commercial and industrial activity to a standstill.

The wave of rioting in which more than 500 demonstrators and 200 policemen have been hurt began two weeks ago and reached its bloodiest pitch in street fighting Thursday in the northern industrial city of Reggio Emilia. Five rioters were killed and one policeman was critically wounded in an exchange of gunfire. About 20 others were injured.

Police said they fired machine-guns into the air after the demonstrators used firearms. Authorities said about 2,000 derailed demonstrators fought from behind barricades and on rooftops, hurling stones and homemade gasoline bombs.

Fists flew again in Parliament Thursday night when word reached Rome of the new violence and deaths in Reggio Emilia.

Tambroni, who is ruling at the head of a shaky stopgap regime, shocked the Chamber of Deputies into silence when he charged "the government can prove that the Communist party is conducting a pre-planned action both in the national and international fields."

We wish to express our appreciation for your kind expressions of sympathy shown during the death of our loving mother.

Pierce Has a Jinx Over the Indian Team

By ED WILKS
Associated Press Sports Writer

It's getting so everyone who has forgotten Billy Pierce except the Cleveland Indians, who wish they could.

The Chicago White Sox south paw was overlooked as a starting pitcher in last fall's World Series and passed over by his own manager, Al Lopez, when the American League's All-Star staff was named. But he's been a one man roadblock to Indian pennant hopes.

He bent the second place Indians for the fifth straight time in a 9-9 decision Thursday night that gave the White Sox a sweep of a five-game series at Cleveland.

This one dropped Cleveland three games behind the first place New York Yankees, who beat the Orioles 6-3.

Detroit defeated Kansas City 6-3, and Washington split a two-night game at Boston. The Senators won 4-5, then lost 4-2.

In the National League, Pittsburgh put away its 11th last-inning victory with a 3-2 decision at Cincinnati that retained a 5 1/2 game lead. Second place Milwaukee defeated Philadelphia 2-0 behind Warren Spahn's five-hitter. St. Louis lagged third place San Francisco 7-4, fourth place Los Angeles made it four in a row with a 7-1 job on the Chicago Cubs.

Pierce (7-1) gave up six hits, one a homer by Jim Morsall, while winning his fourth decision in the last six.

Al Smith, who was 4-for-4 and Gene Freese each homered and drove in three runs for the White Sox in a 13-hit attack. Freese's shot, with two on, came in a winning five-run third off Jim Perry (9-4), who has lost only two of his last 10 decisions.

A tworn seventh inning, triggered by Clete Boyer's homer and capped by Tony Kubek's sacrifice fly, brought the Yankees from behind against loser Milt Pappas (7-4). Winner Duke Maas (11-1) and Bobby Shantz shut out the Birds on four hits over the last five innings in relief of Bob Turley.

The Tigers scored five in the third inning climaxed by Eddie Yost's two-run single, and sent Don Larsen (0-5) to his 11th straight loss. Leftlander Don Mossi (6-6) was the winner.

The Senators made it four in a row in the opener in a tworn seventh. Camilo Pascual (4-5) won it. Frank Sullivan (3-0) was the loser.

Bill Muffett (1-1) making only his seventh start in the majors and first since 1958, pitched a four-hitter for the Red Sox in the nightcap for his first AL victory. Willie Tashy, who scored the first two runs, beat Bill Fischer (3-5) with a two-run single in the fourth.

Ex-Baseballer Seeks Idle Pay

GALESBURG, Ill. (AP)—Jimmy Fox, member of baseball's Hall of Fame who reputedly earned $250,000 during his playing days, applied for Illinois unemployment compensation Wednesday.

"I figure I'm all through with the restaurant," Fox, 52, said. He referred to his job as manager of the Jimmy Fox Restaurant in Galesburg, Ill., owned by Nunzio and Tony Mangieri and Joe Donato, offered him the job as manager a year ago after learning he was in financial straits.

"It just didn't work out," was the only comment the owners had on their failure to renew his contract which expired June 1.

Fox, his wife and two sons made their home in Galesburg, Ill., where he managed the restaurant while he earned about $35 a week unemployment compensation for a maximum of 26 weeks.

Fox retired from baseball (one batting average of .325,

Dodgers Start Looking Like World Champs

By ED WILKS
Associated Press Sports Writer

The Los Angeles Dodgers have begun to look like world champions again, but they still have a long way to go to catch Pittsburgh's Pirates in the National League race.

The Dodgers, who trail by 8 1/2 games, moved within a half-game of third place San Francisco by whipping Chicago's Cubs 7-1 Thursday night for their ninth victory in 11 games.

But the Pirates put away their fourth consecutive success when Bob Skinner cracked a two-out two-on double in the ninth inning that beat Cincinnati 3-2. It was Pittsburgh's 11th last-inning victory.

It also retained their 5 1/2-game spread over Milwaukee's second place Braves, who defeated Philadelphia 2-0 as Hank Aaron backed Warren Spahn's five-hitter with a home run and sacrifice fly. St. Louis rapped San Francisco 7-3.

In the American League, New York regained a three-game lead by beating Baltimore 6-3 while the Chicago White Sox trimmed second place Cleveland 9-3. Detroit defeated Kansas City 6-4. Washington split a twilight doubleheader at Boston, winning 6-5, then losing 4-2.

Rightlander Don Drysdale now has won his last two starts for a 6-10 record. He allowed eight hits and walked four. But struck out eight and blanked the Cubs after George Altman hit his third home run.

The Pirates trailed 2-1 with two out and no one on base in the ninth at Cincinnati. Bill Mazeroski got them rolling with a single, his third hit, off reliever Jim Brosnan. Smokey Burgess, just back from a two-day suspension, followed with a pinch single off loser Bill Henry (1-4), who then gave up Skinner's winner.

Wilmer Mizell (5-5) was the winner, allowing four hits. Elroy Face wrapped it up in the ninth, allowing the Reds' fifth hit as they lost their fourth in a row.

Spahn (8-5), left off the All-Star staff, gained his 27th victory and 48th shutout—both all-time highs among NL southpaws—while walking just one and striking out 10. Lee Walls, who had two hits, and Bobby Del Greco singled with none out in the ninth for the Phils. But after Spahn gave up a walk that loaded the bases with one out, Bobby Gene Smith hit into a doubleplay.

Billy Bruton's double and a single by Del Greco set up Aaron's sacrifice fly in the first inning against Chris Short (4-5). Aaron hit his 23rd home run in the sixth as the Braves ended their loss string at three.

A two-run single by Stan Musial won it for the Cards in the third against Sam Jones (10-8). Larry Jackson (10-8) beat the Giants for the fourth time.

Now, since the death of majority stockholder Arnold Johnson of Chicago last March, the club will be sold to the highest bidder. Whether the Athletics, currently floundering in seventh place in the American League, remain here depends on whether the successful purchaser is a Kansas City syndicate or one outside the city, like Johnson's, willing to operate it here in Municipal Stadium.

This will be the backdrop Monday when the National League's Willie Mays steps to the plate to face the American League hurler, perhaps Kansas City's own Bud Daley, a southpaw who has won 12 games and might conceivably win another before Monday.

The stadium's slightly less than 31,000 grandstand seats all will be filled. There are no bleachers in the park.

The playing field, which the players say is the best in the American League, is somewhat confining in the left field and left center areas where a medium power drive can clear the 20-foot fence for a home run.

Kansas Citians for the most part are optimistic that they can keep the Athletics here and eventually a club that will play in another big baseball show - the World Series. They already have pledged $2,000,000 toward the purchase of the A's. There are plenty more small investors who will swell that amount in bidding against interests in Dallas, Houston, Minneapolis and other cities who want to move the club.

Draft Rockefeller Move Is Started

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) - A nationwide movement to draft New York Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller for the Republican presidential nomination got under way today with half-page ads in metropolitan newspapers.

The movement was announced Wednesday by William M. Brinton, San Francisco attorney and national chairman. Draft Rockefeller headquarters are in San Francisco, with committees operating in 21 states, Brinton said.

Brinton said he is absolutely confident the movement will give Rockefeller a majority of delegate support at the Republican National Convention.

"We have enough money to spend on the things we consider useful," said Brinton. "Not a cent of it is Rockefeller money."

Brinton said Rockefeller associates had never given support to nor opposed the draft movement.

No Contact With U.S. Satellite

WASHINGTON (AP) - "The earth has lost contact with the United States space probe Pioneer V."

Dr. A. C. B. Lovell, director of the Jodrell Bank, England, radio telescope, reported this to newsmen today after a courtesy call on President Eisenhower.

The huge telescope, near Manchester, England, maintained the last contact with the scientific vehicle hurled into orbit around the sun.

Lovell said this contact was lost "a couple of days ago" when Pioneer V was about 23 million miles from the earth. It had been tracked since its launching last March 11.

Cedar Falls to Get Safety Fence

MORRILTON, Ark. (AP) - Workmen today started building a safety fence near Cedar Falls in nearby Pettie Jean State Park, where an Arkansas State Teachers College co-ed fell to her death July Fourth.

State Publicity and Parks Director Ted Woods said at Little Rock the fence wouldn't be across the stream or falls, but would be situated so visitors can't reach the dangerous area.

The fence will be of chain link material topped by barbed wire. It will not obstruct the view of the falls, Woods said.

Charlotte Ward, 19, of Harrisburg, died in a 90-foot plunge over the falls Monday.

Other persons have been killed or severely injured in previous falls at the spot.

Kansas City Set for Big All Star Game

By FRANK CRAWFORD Associated Press Sports Writer

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (AP)—This city will play host next Monday to baseball's All-Star game amid a growing battle to keep its place in the big leagues.

The first of baseball's big two game show will be played in a stadium where Kansas City's fan dom has proved its mettle by pouring through the turnstiles 5,000,000 strong watching the Athletics in the five full seasons since the club was brought here in 1955 from Philadelphia.

Now, since the death of majority stockholder Arnold Johnson of Chicago last March, the club will be sold to the highest bidder. Whether the Athletics, currently floundering in seventh place in the American League, remain here depends on whether the successful purchaser is a Kansas City syndicate or one outside the city, like Johnson's, willing to operate it here in Municipal Stadium.

COUNTERFEIT GENTLEMAN

By CLARENCE BUDINGTON KELLAND
Illustrated by The Curtis Franklin Company

THE STORY: Artemus Baldwin, Secret Service undercover agent interested in counterfeiters, has met an interesting couple, Colonel Beauregard and his daughter Jennifer, at a ball game. He also learns that the murdered man who had a counterfeit bill in his mouth was the husband of the Roche maid.

Chapter XI

Artemus drove to his motor court cabin, where, in the door, he found a slip from the office asking him to telephone a certain number. There was no name. He went inside, tossed his hat on the bed and sat staring at the slip of paper. There could be no harm if he made the call. So he walked across to the office and used the coin instrument. A male voice answered.

"Artemus Baldwin," said the Secret Service man, "You want to speak to me?"

"Marvin Leeds speaking," said the voice. "Attorney. I've a business proposition for you. Can you come to my office?"

Artemus made his voice hard and included a snarl. "I don't go to people. People come to me," he said.

"Will it be convenient, then, if I come to see you?"

"When?" asked Artemus.

"Now," said the voice.

"What's the rush?" Artemus asked.

The voice laughed. "A stitch in time saves nine," it said.

"I'll listen," Artemus said, "but it better be good. I don't like people that waste my time."

"I'll be there in 15 minutes," the voice said.

Artemus returned to his cabin, closed the door behind him and stood scrutinizing the room. A part of his training had been to arrange the belongings with which he traveled in a certain order. The toilet articles on his dresser were always placed in the same way with reference to one another in a pattern that never varied. His suitcase was set at an angle at the foot of his bed. Shirts and underwear in the drawers were arranged exactly.

The first thing his eyes noted was that his suitcase no longer stood at a slight angle to the foot of the bed, but was parallel to it. The top drawer was not an exact two inches open, but only one inch. His hairbrushes had been disturbed. He did not need to examine the shirts and underwear and socks in the lowboy to know that someone had been in his room, someone adept at searching and at leaving things the way they had been found, so that his suspicions would not be aroused. But no searcher could return every object so it fitted again into so exact a pattern.

Artemus went to his suitcase and opened it. It was far from being a new piece of baggage, and its lining had become detached in places from the leather. His fingers slipped inside the lining and came out empty.

A motorcar stopped in front of the cabin, and steps sounded on the small porch, followed by knuckles on the door.

"Come in," Artemus called, wondering what manner of man he would see.

The door opened and a slender, small, dapper man minced over the threshold. While, even, teeth gleamed out of an ingratiating smile, and gentle, brown eyes glowed as with pleasure at the meeting. The extended hand was mannequined and the slender, tapering fingers might have been those of a girl. The voice that spoke Artemus' name was soft, musical, ultraculture.

"It was gracious of you, Mr. Baldwin," said the young man who had given his name as Marvin Leeds, "to receive me."

"Skip the baloney," Artemus said rudely. "What's your racket?"

"I am," answered Leeds, "a reputable lawyer in this community."

"When I need a multiplicity," Artemus said, "I'll send for one."

Leeds smiled disarmingly. "I'm not soliciting business," he said. "I came to offer you a business opportunity. My clients were under the impression that you are a businessman looking for a stillable opening."

"Your clients got names?" Artemus asked.

Leeds smiled. "Excellent names," he said, "but not to be disclosed at this stage in the negotiations. As a matter of fact, my clients are aliens."

Artemus narrowed his eyes. "Chinese?" he asked.

"Yakuza," said Leeds.

Leeds flashed his charming smile and extracted a paper from his pocket. It was somewhat wrinkled and dog-eared, but Artemus recognized it as one of those fliers which one often sees affixed to the bulletin boards in post offices. Artemus recognized the handbill. It recently had been hidden in the lining of his suitcase, still smiling disarmingly, permitted Artemus to take it in his fingers. He studied it and shrugged. Up from the paper stared a picture of himself, somewhat smudged but nevertheless recognizable. The name, however, was not Artemus Baldwin, but Don Anton, the Olive Kid. It stated that he was wanted in connection with the murder of one Cristobal Di Feo in Chicago in August of last year. A significant sentence was added: "This man is dangerous."

Artemus tore the flimsy paper to bits and stuffed them in his pocket.

"And so?" asked Artemus.

"A good recommendation," Leeds said. He smiled again his friendly smile. "We like to know who comes to town and why. When a man tosses his weight around we like to know how heavy he is."

Hits Proposal to End the Filibuster

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—Sen. John D. McClellan (D-Ark.) today described proposals for a Democratic Party plank calling for an end to Senate filibuster as a move against the South.

The senator told newsmen he was strongly opposed to the suggestions, which originated with liberal groups.

"They are primarily another assault against one section of the country," he said.

McClellan stopped at Little Rock en route to the Democratic national convention at Los Angeles.

He said he thought there were times when "a lack of filibuster might prove to the disadvantage of the groups trying to end it."

but they do not seem to feel so."

The South has used filibusters advantage, McClellan added, "but anything that will hurt the South is what some people want."

McClellan declined to make any lengthy comment on the proposals.

He also said "I have not checked the Arkansas delegation for members' views."

"I would not want anyone to think that I was trying to speak as a delegate when I am only going as an observer."

The senator said he believes there is "general apprehension in the South" about the kind of plot form which will be adopted at the convention.

He made no further comment on this point.

McClellan said he thought the strongest ticket for the Democrats would be one that had Sen. Lyndon Johnson of Texas as the presidential nominee, and Sen. John

Kennedy of Massachusetts as the vice presidential candidate.

"But that's just one man's opinion," he added.

McClellan said that if Kennedy didn't get a majority on the third ballot for presidential nomination or before, "the prospects of the other contenders will be considerably enhanced."

But he said that if Kennedy is winning, that would not necessarily mean that Johnson would
